CHAPTER 2

THE word that Isaiah the son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
2 And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the LORD's house shall be established in the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it.
3 And many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
4 And he shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.
5 O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the LORD.
6 ¶ Therefore thou hast forsaken thy people the house of Jacob, because they be replenished from the east, and are soothsayers like the Philistines, and they please themselves in the children of strangers.
7 Their land also is full of silver and gold, neither is there any end of their treasures; their land is also full of horses, neither is there any end of their chariots:
8 Their land also is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made:
9 And the mean man boweth down, and the great man humbleth himself: therefore forgive them not.
10 ¶ Enter into the rock, and hide thee in the dust, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty.
11 The lofty looks of man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.
12 For the day of the LORD of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low:
13 And upon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are high and lifted up, and upon all the oaks of Bashan,
14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the hills that are lifted up,
15 And upon every high tower, and upon every fenced wall,
16 And upon all the ships of Tarshish, and upon all pleasant pictures.
17 And the loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be made low: and the LORD alone shall be exalted in that day.
18 And the idols he shall utterly abolish.
19 And they shall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.
20 In that day a man shall cast his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which they made each one for himself to worship, to the moles and to the bats;
21 To go into the clefts of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.
22 Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?

FOR, behold, the Lord, the LORD of hosts, doth take away from Jerusalem and from Judah the stay and the staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water,
2 The mighty man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the prudent, and the ancient,
3 The captain of fifty, and the honourable man, and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent orator.
4 And I will give children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them.
5 And the people shall be oppressed, every one by another, and every one by his neighbour: the child shall behave himself proudly against the ancient, and the base against the honourable.
6 When a man shall take hold of his

FAREWELL to Mr. Hegener, vice-principal of Redford High School from February, 1936, to January, 1946. His quiet decision, unfailing courtesy, and ready wit will be missed by pupils and teachers alike. Our best wishes go with him as he moves up to become Divisional Director of Language Education of the Detroit Board of Education. Happy landing, Mr. Hegener!

SENIOR PLAY

The Senior Play, Johnny On the Spot, was a huge success. (See pictures on opposite pages.) It concerns the fortunes of a serviceman home on leave, falsely believed to be a hero of a famous naval battle.

(1.) Bill Reiss failed to gain sympathy when, deserted by his beloved, he took to dancing with a chair. (2.) Johnny, the hero, as portrayed by Louis Emmert, reduced the audience to helpless laughter as he tried to resist the efforts of Sally Harper, newspaper woman, to photograph him. (3.) Chuck Layton (Johnny in Friday's cast) is shown surrounded by a bevy of hero-worshippers.

Dear Seniors

Yours, the first class to graduate since the war ended, might be called the "Victory Class." During your four years at Redford you have felt the most tremendous war of all time. You have known the thrill of co-operating in all sorts of high school war activities: scrap drive, paper drives, Red Cross, the gigantic war bond sales, and many more.

You have been leaders in all these war activities. "Well done good and faithful servants."

The war with all its attendant horrors is over, for which we thank God. But great problems of adjustment lie ahead of us: social, industrial, and economic. You boys and girls, the men and women of tomorrow, have a call to service just as important and demanding as that which called our youth to serve in the armed forces. If our country is to go forward to internal peace and prosperity, you, together with the graduates of recent years, must accept this call to serve your country. You must give freely of your best thought, your time, and your strength. This old world, bruised, restless, and uncertain, needs your clean-cut, unselfish help and guidance.

Redford High has been a leader in all war activities And it, through you its graduates, must be a leader "now—tomorrow."

More power to you!

Sincerely your friend,

THE CAMERA STAFF

Take three tin cans, (preferably one hash, one grapefruit, and one tomato), one section of lens salvaged from a pair of shattered binoculars, one lens from a bulls-eye bed lamp; combine with one thousand horsepower of determination and two hours of toil and sweat, and you have Ken Bell's formula for a spotlight. "Never say die," is this 10B's motto when dealing with problems in photography. Evidence of his success may be seen on pages two and three of this issue.

Under the direction of Mr. Walton, who five years ago organized and since then has sponsored the photography staff, Ken Bell and Don Emery turn out most of the pictures used by the Outpost and yearbook. Photography is the hobby of all three and the probable career of the two boys.

Adjoining physics lab 213B is the official hang-out of the photography staff—a dark room which houses one Speed Graphic and one Rolleiflex camera plus the pride of their lives, a new electric print-dryer which reduces the drying-time for prints from two hours to five minutes.

The pet peeve of Don and Ken is that some pictures must be taken shortly before a deadline, with resultant late hours and trips back to school on cold, black nights. As compensation, they cite the friendship and advice of Mr. Walton, whom both boys hold in high esteem.

no one can figure how to run a school without them.

W.R.B.G., under the direction of Mrs. Grace Page, plays a vital part in the life of the school.

Most important is the Thursday newsletter, prepared and broadcast to the record rooms by Jack Beresford, who selects his information from up to-the-minute items collected by Miss Van Houten of the journalism department.

The station features as guest speakers visitors to Redford who have information of interest to students. Jim Westfall, Redford graduate pictured at right, spoke on his experiences in the service. A Christmas broadcast was one of the special programs this term.

Co-Operative Retailing Course

Charm, poise, tact, good scholarship, and keen interest in the field of selling—any girl possessing these qualifications may confidently expect, when she reaches the twelfth grade, to be considered for the co-operative retailing course offered by Redford's commercial department.

The principle underlying the success of this course is one that ranks high with educators: learning by doing. The "co-op" pursues her regular program of studies in the morning; lunch over, she is off to find out what makes the wheels go round in the store to which she is assigned. Here, by means of a carefully-planned rotation system, she receives training and instruction in one type of work after another until she has an over-all picture of the career opportunities offered by retailing.

"The beauty of the plan," said Mrs. Smith, "is that every girl, somewhere along the line, finds work for which she seems to have a natural aptitude." Often previous training is a factor. For example, art students are generally enthusiastic about window-trimming and display. Pupils who have had journalism are "naturals" for advertising and layout. Home ec majors seem to gravitate to the alteration department; whereas commercial students are at home in a variety of positions. "Any girl," she finished, "who likes people and meets the public gracefully will choose a career in personnel."

Each co-op is carefully supervised both by Mrs. Smith and a member of the store management, by whom her work in each department is graded. Problems that arise at the store are brought up for discussion in the morning retailing class at Redford.

At the end of the course each girl receives an efficiency certificate, issued by the State Board of Control for Visual Education, which states that she has successfully completed the training. Upon graduation any girl who has had this very practical course finds open to her an interesting career in merchandising.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A badge to wear proudly is the gold pin awarded each semester by the National Honor Society to outstanding members of the 11A, 12B, and 12A grades. It immediately identifies the wearers, throughout the United States, and also in Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, Panama, Argentina, and China, as having distinguished themselves in scholarship, service, and leadership.

Scholarship is reckoned on the point system, well known through its use in the study hall: A is worth five points; B, three; and C, one. Marks are counted from the 9B, and a final E in any academic subject disqualifies the candidate. Students in the 11A need 100 points for membership; in the 12B, 108; and in the 12A, 112.

Miss Eunice Grover is chairman of the faculty committee on membership, and as such is responsible to Washington for the decisions made. She also acts as treasurer of the Redford chapter.

Only one meeting is held each semester. This is a breakfast at which new officers are elected and new members welcomed. This term the menu of fruit juice, sausages, scrambled eggs, doughnuts, and cocoa provided the necessary brainfood to start Redford's intelligentsia on their day's work. After breakfast the members were entertained by the Girls' Double Sextet, and Sgt. Paul Branigin told of his experiences as an Army interperter in France and Germany.

"Congratulate me, mother!

I've got a job with

Michigan Bell!"

Graduation time is an exciting time for energetic young women who've been waiting for a chance to put what they've learned to practical use.

The business world beckons. It needs ambitious girls. Job opportunities for young women have been greatly extended.

If you are interested in a job with an assured future, regular pay increases and a chance for promotion, we'd like you to consider Michigan Bell. Right now, we're engaged in a huge expansion and improvement program. Practically every department in the company has job openings.

We need typists, business office representatives, tellers, switchboard operators and girls for a variety of clerical positions.

No experience is necessary. You'll be paid while in training, then fitted into the job for which you're best suited.

If you are among the graduates, call at our employment office, 1365 Cass Avenue. A friendly interviewer will be glad to give you full details.
